Michele Friedner is a PhD candidate in Medical Anthropology in the UC Berkeley- UCSF Joint Medical Anthropology Program. In this talk, she explores the role of the Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) sector in the lives of deaf young adults in search of livelihood and belonging in Bangalore, asking what this tells us about questions of value, ethics, and subjectivity in an “India Shining”.

Monday, February 28
12:00 pm
CHAT, 48 Professors Row