

Archaeology Program

Course Descriptions
Fall 2004

Archaeology Program

Department Office – Eaton 321
x7-3213

E-mail: archaeology@tufts.edu
ase.tufts.edu/archaeology

David J. Proctor – Administrator
david.proctor@tufts.edu

Faculty Information Fall 2004

FACULTY	DEPT ROOM #	EXT.	E-MAIL	CONCENTRATION
Lecturer Peter Der Manuelian	Classics		Peter.Dermanuelian@tufts.edu	Egyptology
Professor R. Bruce Hitchner	Classics Eaton Hall 320	7-5359	Bruce.Hitchner@tufts.edu	Roman History & Archaeology, International Relations
Lecturer Lauren Sullivan	Anthropology Eaton Hall 132	7-4265	Lauren.Sullivan@tufts.edu	Mesoamerican Archaeology
Lecturer Anthony Tuck	Classics Eaton Hall 331	7-4643	Antohony.Tuck@tufts.edu	Greek, Roman and Etruscan Archaeology

Archaeology Listings for Fall 2004

(See Course Descriptions for prerequisites and cross-listings)

COURSE # BLOCK	TITLE	INSTRUCTOR
ARCH 0030-01 M/W	Prehistoric Archaeology	Sullivan	L+
ARCH 0052-PD	The Archaeological History of Ancient Egypt	Der Manuelian	13 R
ARCH 0163-01 M/W	Aegean Archaeology	Tuck	G+
ARCH 0191-01 M/W	Ancient Technologies of the Mediterranean	Tuck	L+
ARCH 0191-03	Roman Globalization	Hitchner	6 T

ARCHAEOLOGY 0030-01    PREHISTORIC ARCHAEOLOGY

(Cross-listed as ANTH 0030)

Survey of human culture from the earliest Paleolithic hunters and gatherers to the formation of states and the beginning of recorded history. Course provides an introduction to archaeological methods, a worldwide overview of prehistoric life ways, and a more detailed analysis of cultural development in the New World.

SULLIVAN

L+ (M/W 5:25 -6:40)

ARCHAEOLOGY 0052-PD    THE ARCHAEOLOGICAL HISTORY OF ANCIENT EGYPT

(Cross-listed as CLS 0092-PD, HIST 0015-01)

This survey course will focus on roughly 3,000 years of ancient Egyptian pharaonic civilization (3,000-332 B.C.). The emphasis will be on the material culture discovered along the banks of the Nile: ancient Egyptian pyramids, temples, tombs, settlements and cities, art masterpieces and artifacts. The course will follow a chronological path at least through the New Kingdom (1050 B.C.), with many excursions into Egyptian art, history, politics, hieroglyphs, and the development of the discipline of modern Egyptology. Several field trips to the collections of the Museum of Fine Arts will be included. Final paper topics may include opportunities to contribute to the MFA's new Giza Archives Project, creating on-line access to the archives from its excavations at the Giza Pyramids (1902-1942).

DER MANUELIAN

13 (R 6:45-9:45)

ARCHEOLOGY 0163-01

AEGEAN ARCHAEOLOGY

(Cross-listed as CLS 0163, FAH 0112)

Prerequisite: CLS 27/ ARCH 27/FAH 19

In this course, we will study the site and monuments of the Aegean area from the Neolithic period to the end of the Bronze Age, with special emphasis on the Minoan and Mycenaean civilizations. Oral reports in class; two mid-term exams; one final exam.

TUCK

G+ (M/W 1:30-2:45)

ARCHAEOLOGY 0191-01

ANCIENT TECHNOLOGIES OF THE MEDITERRANEAN

(Cross-listed as CLS 0191-01)

Prerequisite: CLS 27/ ARCH 27/FAH 19

This course will examine the technical processes behind the production of various forms of ancient materials. Classes will focus on the reconstruction of techniques of weaving and textile manufacture, ceramic production and coroplastics, smelting, casting and other forms of metalurgy, food processing, fermentation and other aspects of the manufacture of materials in the ancient world. Our primary focus will be evidence of technologies in the Mediterranean basin, but other regions of the ancient world will be included as well.

TUCK

L+ (M/W 5:25-6:40)

ARCHAEOLOGY 0191-03

ROMAN GLOBALIZATION

(Cross-listed as CLS 0191-03, HIST 101)

Prerequisite: CLS 0038

This course will explore the Roman Empire as an early globalization and its implications for long term history.

HITCHNER

6 (T 1:30-4:30)

Tufts University
Archaeology Program
Course Listing Fall 2004

Images Courtesy of the Classics Digital Slide Collection