You’ve probably heard of the Iliad and the Odyssey, or perhaps a fellow called Julius Caesar… but what about everything else the ancient world has to offer?

Have you ever wondered how the Greeks and Romans led their lives, wanted to improve your understanding of language, or even just wanted to build a base of knowledge for trivia night? If you said yes to any of these things, classical studies just might be the discipline for you!

Sound interesting? Stop by our information session!

Come join us Wednesday, April 17th at noon in Eaton 202 for a Q&A with current faculty and students in the department. (There will be pizza!)
