Financial Inclusion:
Starting where the commercial sector ends

Jeff Ashe, GDAE Research Fellow
Kim Wilson, Lecturer at The Fletcher School

Thursday, October 17
6:30-7:45pm
Tufts University Fletcher School, Mugar 200
106R Packard Ave, Medford, MA 02155

Banks, money transfer services, and telecomm companies have all jumped on the “Financial Inclusion” bandwagon, but the commercial sector does not provide basic financial services. Who is providing savings, credit, and insurance for households that are unbanked and unbankable? Join us as we discuss microfinance and explore simple, yet ingenious ways of reaching financially excluded businesses and households.

Refreshments will be served, including pizza provided by Flatbread Company

New Economy Week:
Seven days toward a more just and sustainable world

Join GDAE as we participate in a national week of action designed to shine a light on the movement to build a new economy – an economy that is restorative to people, place, and the planet.

Learn more about GDAE events at http://www.ase.tufts.edu/gdae/events.html

Global Development And Environment Institute

gdae