

The Global Development And Environment Institute Presents

The 2012 Leontief Prize for Advancing the Frontiers of Economic Thought
“The Global Food Crisis and the Future of Agriculture”

Michael Lipton

Peter Timmer

Award recipients and lecturers:

Dr. Michael Lipton

Research Professor of Economics, Sussex University

Author of “Why People Stay Poor” and “Land Reform in Developing Countries: property rights and property wrongs” and numerous publications on agriculture, nutrition, land reform and poverty and inequality.

Dr. C. Peter Timmer

Cabot Professor of Development Studies, emeritus, Harvard University

Author of “Food Policy Analysis” and numerous publications on agricultural policy, development, and food security.

April 3rd, 2012

3:30 pm

Coolidge Room, Ballou Hall Medford Campus, Tufts University

Co-sponsored by the Tufts University Friedman School of Nutrition Science and Policy and the Tufts University Institute of the Environment

This event is free and open to the public.

Directions to Tufts Medford Campus can be found on the web at: <http://www.tufts.edu/home/maps/>

For more information about the event, contact Lauren Denizard at 617-627-3530

Visit our Web site: www.gdae.org