Career, Culture, & Communication Conference: Helping International Students Navigate the Global Workplace for undergraduate and graduate students in Arts & Sciences and Engineering

Saturday, October 24, 2015, 8:30am-4:00pm
Cabot Hall, Tufts University, Medford, MA
Deadline to register: Friday, October 16

Keynote Speakers:
- Judy Shen-Filerman, Principal at Dreambridge Consultants, will discuss the cultural norms, values and personal and social aspects that exist in the U.S. job search. She'll present practical strategies and best practices for employing storytelling and small talk during interviewing and networking. A Harvard College and Harvard Business School grad, Judy is an engaging "culture-crosser" who draws from her own experience as a bilingual, immigrant Chinese-American.
- Arlene Dallalfur is a Professor of Sociology in International Higher Education and Intercultural Relations at Lesley University. Dr. Dallalfar's teaching and scholarship have been focused on examining sociology and feminist theory and pedagogy from a cross-cultural perspective. Additional areas of specialization are exploring through both visual and textual ethnography the politics of immigration, Diaspora and transnationality. She is a graduate of Tufts University and holds an MA and PhD from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Sessions:
- Job Search Workshop for Masters and PhD Students
- Job Search Workshop for Undergraduates
- Internship Search and Student Panel
- Alumni & Employer Panel
- OPT & CPT Overview
- Interview Workshop
- Immigration Attorney

No cost to register. Breakfast and lunch included.

Sponsored by Tufts Career Center, The International Center, AS&E Diversity Fund, and Dean of Undergraduate and Graduate Students
