

You're invited to participate in a student workshop!

Social Justice 101
Saturday, November 14, 2009
1 - 5 p.m., Dowling 745

So what is social justice anyway? In this interactive workshop, we'll explore some key concepts which underlie social justice leadership. We'll discuss how our identities affect our perspectives and experiences, how the dynamics of privilege and oppression play out on campus and in society, how to collaborate across differences, and how to create more inclusive and just organizations and communities.

Come see what the new buzz is about!

Priority to first-years. Space is limited. RSVP required.
Please send your RSVP to dosstudent@ase.tufts.edu with "RSVP for SJ 101" in the subject.
