

Massachusetts | Campus Compact

COMMUNITY-BASED PARTICIPATORY RESEARCH

This faculty workshop will focus on the value of community partnerships for research based on the work Tufts University. What are strategies and models that have been successful? What structures exist that facilitate research partnerships? How are research questions defined? What are potential barriers or challenges--for faculty as well as for community partners? What are some components of best practices for research? What can be done to ensure that research projects will be mutually beneficial? Whether you are a veteran or new to community based participatory research, this workshop will be a forum to explore new approaches to partnering for research. Faculty and community partner teams are encouraged and there will be opportunities to learn about community-based participatory research projects.

Presenters:

Warren Goldstein-Gelb, The Welcome Project, Somerville, MA

Shirley Mark, Tisch College of Citizenship and Public Service, Tufts University

Jayanthi Mistry, Chair and Associate Professor, Child Development Department

Tuesday, May 18th, 2010

10:00 AM - 3:00 PM

Tufts University, Medford, MA

Registration fee: Please note that registration is now free for MACC members

Lunch Provided

To Register: Email julian.brown-myers@tufts.edu