The Ghosts of the Colonial Past
And the Crisis of Post-Qadhafi Libya

Thursday October 16
Barnum 104
6-8pm
ALL WELCOME

Ali Abdullatif Ahmida was born and grew up in Libya. He came to the United States for graduate study and stayed, and is now Chair of the Department of Political Science at UNE. He is the author of The Making of Modern Libya: State Formation, Colonization and Resistance, 1830-1932 (1994), Forgotten Voices: Power and Agency in Colonial and Postcolonial Libya (2005) and edited volume, Beyond Colonialism and Nationalism in the Maghrib: History, Culture and Politics (2000)

Organized by the Middle Eastern Studies Program; co-sponsored by the Colonialism Studies Program