Healthy Active Aging at Tufts

Presents

Innate Immunity, Genetics, Cognition and Alzheimer’s disease

Epigenetic mechanisms regulating activity dependent gene expression

Dr. Li-Huei Tsai
Director, The Picower Institute for Learning and Memory, MIT

February 18, 2016 - 4:00 pm

HNRCA Auditorium, 711 Washington Street, Boston

Meet the speaker: Light refreshment to follow
(Live streaming: Kreplick Conference Room, Psychology Building, 490 Boston Ave)

Sponsored by: Office of the Provost; BioLegend; Sackler Graduate Programs in Genetics, Immunology, and Neuroscience; The Departments of Neuroscience, Child Study and Human Development, Occupational Health, and Psychology; Jean Mayer USDA Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging.

Join us for our future colloquia speakers
• March 17, 2016—Marco Colonna, Washington State University (Behrakis Auditorium, Boston)
• April 14, 2016—Phillip Haydon, Tufts University School of Medicine (Alumnae Hall, Medford)
• May 19, 2016—Tony Wyss-Coray, Stanford School of Medicine (Behrakis Auditorium, Boston)

Contact: Peggy.Connolly@tufts.edu 617-556-3375