RESEARCH VOLUNTEER - Laboratory for Youth Mental Health
Judge Baker Children's Center, Harvard Medical School/Department of Psychology, Harvard University

Currently seeking part-time research volunteers for two projects: (a) a multi-site clinic-based sustainability study of CBT for depression and anxiety (including post-traumatic stress), and behavioral parent training for conduct problems and (b) an effectiveness trial of CBT for depression and anxiety (including post-traumatic stress), and behavioral parent training for conduct problems in Boston. The position will be based at Judge Baker Children’s Center, Harvard Medical School, and at William James Hall, Harvard University under the direction of John R. Weisz, PhD, ABPP and colleagues. Responsibilities may include: data entry, literature searches, basic analyses and other supporting activities. Minimum requirement of at least 16 hours per week.

A successful applicant will be pursuing (a) a B.A. or B.S. in psychology or a related field, (b) have strong organizational and leadership skills, (c) superior academic qualifications (i.e. GPA ≥ 3.5). Experience in a psychology research lab is desirable.

Part-time volunteer positions begin May 2013 (start date negotiable).

Applicants should send (1) a resume (including overall GPA), (2) a cover letter detailing relevant experiences, interests, and goals, and (3) two references letters to Nicole Long via email: nlong@jbcc.harvard.edu. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis.

For detailed information about Dr. John Weisz’s research projects and Judge Baker Children’s Center, please visit the following websites: http://www.childsteps.org/ and http://www.jbcc.harvard.edu/.

The Judge Baker Children’s Center is an equal opportunity employer.