What does SAGE do?
SAGE is a student group committed to actively participating in a campus wide discussion about women, gender, and social justice. The SAGE agenda is decided by the students involved in SAGE.

Ongoing SAGE projects include:
- SAGE Advice: a peer mentoring group for first year students, SAGE Advice meets once a week during the Fall semester. See back of brochure for more information.
- Peer Education: last year SAGE developed two workshops for Tufts students, this year SAGE will facilitate these workshops: Gender 101 and Intentional Space for interested Tufts groups. Please contact SAGE if you are part of a club, sorority/fraternity, dorm, or other group that would like to receive training.

How can I get involved?
- Come to a meeting: SAGE meets every Tuesday at 6:30pm in the Women’s Center (55 Talbot Ave, white house behind the campus center). Drop ins are welcome, come to as many or few meetings as you like. Students of all genders are invited to join SAGE.
- Sign up for the SAGE e-list: email womenscenter@tufts.edu to be added to the e-list.
- SAGE takes an active role in shaping the campus climate—from our work on the TUPD escort service to our newly formed Peer Mentoring group—and is definitely the place to come with all your gender-related questions and ideas!

Meet with other undergraduate students who are interested in learning more about issues of gender within a structured and Women’s Center facilitated student group!

SAGE’s mission is to foster a safe and collaborative community in which we educate ourselves on gender issues while gaining the skills necessary to productively work towards gender justice at Tufts and beyond. We see “gender justice” broadly, incorporating both the realization of gender equality as well as achieving freedom of gender identity and expression.

You do not have to identify as a feminist to join, but we do approach this work through a social justice and feminist lens. SAGE explores and acknowledges the full spectrum of gendered experiences that exist across individuals and cultures. Within this, we take seriously the call to consider gender in conjunction with the experience of socio-economic status, race, sexual identity, and all other aspects of identity.

Meetings are Tuesdays at 6:30 pm
Drop-ins welcome! Open to all genders.
SAGE Advice, a first year peer mentor program is open to all first year Tufts students, regardless of gender. This program was created by and is led by the Women’s Center director and peer leaders from the Women’s Center Student Collaborative, SAGE. This group has weekly meetings as well as one-on-one time with a peer mentor that you select based on interests and personal preference. This is a discussion group that addresses common issues for first year students at Tufts such as: roommates and privacy, balancing classes and a social life, making new friends, and drugs and alcohol. It is also an opportunity to: learn about Tufts resources that will help you with your personal and academic success; get to know the women’s center and receive a crash course on gender and social justice issues; have an “alternative” campus tour; and help cook delicious and healthy communal meals.

Email us to find out more about the program and our mentors. We meet every Friday at 10:30 am during the fall semester.
